

A Prayer for Canada as an Aquacultural Nation

Om Mani Padme Hum AUM

Beloved Heros and Amora; Bonnie Blue; Archangel Michael, Faith and your son, Micah; Neptune and Luara; Aries and Thor; Virgo and Pelleur; and Oromasis and Diana, we approach you and all elementals with great love and gratitude in our hearts for your service to Mother Earth. We speak to you of her oceans, lakes and waterways within and around the great nation of Canada, and we affirm:

Canada and the world's waters require protection.

Canada understands that she depends on the sea for her survival as an economic and political entity. Nationally and internationally, she plays a decisive role in the care of the water environment. The Canadian government manages its seas and coasts to ensure the economy remains viable in Canada's offshore economic zone. Through Canada's leadership, international forums create effective regulations for the protection and harvesting of the world's sea resources; the Royal Canadian Navy carries the face of Canada's values, contributing productively to the ocean community; and the Arctic Group of Five (Canada, Russia, Denmark, Norway and the United States) honors the Ilulissat Declaration which pledges to cooperate rather than compete in the overseeing of polar oil and mineral exploration, maritime security, transportation and environmental regulation.

As the Arctic Ocean opens to navigation, the world views Canada's water as subject to Canadian control and complies with Canadian sovereignty and Canadian law. Canada demonstrates effective measures of sovereignty protection with a continuous-build program of sufficient, up-to-date technologies: nuclear-powered submarines, ice-strengthened, naval patrol vessels, deepwater ports, and undersea listening devices for monitoring vessel traffic.

The Canadian Coast Guard, the Royal Canadian Navy and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police work in close cooperation to respond to the government's requirements: search and rescue, disaster relief, drug interdiction, environmental protection and demonstration of sovereignty. Large numbers of Canadians choose a vocation along Canada's coastlines, safeguarding a productive destiny for themselves and for their country.

The health of the Lake Winnipeg Watershed requires restoration.

Beloved Heros and Amora, Bonnie Blue, Archangel Michael and Faith, and Hierarchs of the Elementals—visualizing your love and light pouring into the watershed of Lake Winnipeg, we affirm the restoration of its health, and we envision the cooperative, sustainable management by Canadians and Americans of the meadows, fields and forests within this watershed of one million square kilometers, which extends across Canada from the Rocky Mountains to the Great Lakes and into four states south of the border.

We send gratitude, praise and love to all elementals for your magnificent service maintaining Canada as a healthy and beautiful platform for our evolution.

The new day appears here as we live in illumination's ray. (3x)

Thank you for answering our prayers. Thank you! Amen.
