

67. Journey of Love

Cycles come and go
Winds of change are here
But our love lives on
There's no need to fear.

When we're in our hearts all troubles melt away
And kindness and a smile will always see us through
For life is not a struggle but a journey of love.

When I'm here with you
Time and space expire
As our hearts expand
All will feel this fire.

When we're in our hearts all life responds in kind
And hope permeates all with its enfolding joy
For life is not a struggle but a journey of love.

Interlude

All I've learned thus far
Is as foam and mist
But our love burns on
In eternal bliss.

When we're in our hearts treasures of grace abound
And angels of the sun shine forth their radiant light,
For life's our pathway home, a sacred journey of love.
A sacred journey of love.